

1. Guest Speaker: Senator Jim DeMint

Jim DeMint discussed a new project he founded with the Conservative Partnership Institute (CPI). The CPI is dedicated to providing a platform for citizen leaders, the conservative movement, members of Congress, congressional staff and scholars to get connected. CPI works to provide conservative leaders with the tools, tactics, resources and strategies to help make them be successful in advancing conservative policy solutions. One such project is the Honest Government Pledge. The goal of the Honest Government Pledge calls for the House to remain in session until a sufficient number of appropriation bills are passed and for the Senate to remain in session until a sufficient number of the Trump's federal circuit court nominees are confirmed. DeMint states the Senate is essentially working essentially two days a week right now and nominees are being voted on one at a time instead of the traditional block voting. Senator James Lankford proposed a bill to reduce debate time for non-cabinet nominees from 30 hours to 8. Passing of the bill will requires 51 votes in the Senate. The Honest Government Pledge will be available on the Tea Party Patriot website by Monday afternoon. www.teapartypatriot.org

2. Constitutional Minute: Chris Wright

- Chris reported on a recent Arizona appellate court decision that found in favor of the parents who were being prevented from discussing any gender orientation topics with their young son who wanted to dress like a girl. Found this was a violation of the parents right to free speech.

Washington Report: Sorry Team but Bill spoke way to quickly for me to takes notes. I will try harder next week. Until next week.
